MOON ORB BETTLE

MÅNETORBIST

Together, we can preserve biodiversity and ensure that creatures like the moon orb beetle will always have a place in our world.

Once upon a time in a world filled with diverse and fantastical creatures, there existed a fascinating beetle named the moon orb beetle. This remarkable beetle found its home among animal dung, especially from cows, but occasionally also in horse and sheep dung. However, time was not kind to our good friend, the moon orb beetle, and today it is nearly extinct. Since 1960, it has only been spotted in two locations in Denmark: Røsnæs and Samsø.

But this story is not just about a threatened beetle. It is also a tale of biodiversity and our responsibility to preserve and protect endangered species. Inspired by the moon orb beetle, we aim to create a jewelry collection that narrates the fragile beauty and importance of biodiversity.

Each piece of jewelry in our collection represents a hope, a connection between nature and humanity. By wearing these pieces, we demonstrate our commitment to preserving our natural heritage and protecting endangered species.

must continue to exist in the future.
